to repeal and recreate 66.0903 (title) and 66.0903 (1) (g); and to create 16.856 and 84.062 of the statutes; relating to: elimination of the requirement that laborers, workers, mechanics, and truck drivers employed on the site of a local project of public works be paid the prevailing wage, the enforcement and administration of the prevailing wage laws, the calculation of the prevailing wage rate, persons covered under the prevailing wage law, providing an exemption from emergency rule procedures, and granting rule-making authority.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill: 1) repeals the prevailing wage law that applies to local projects of public works; 2) requires the use of federally determined prevailing wage rates on state projects of public works, instead of rates determined by the Department of Workforce Development (DWD); 3) eliminates DWD’s existing role in enforcing and administering the prevailing wage law and transfers that role to the Department of Administration (DOA); 4) eliminates various statutory provisions with respect to the prevailing wage law for projects other than state highway projects and provides DOA with rule-making authority to enforce and administer the law; and 5) excludes certain persons from coverage under the prevailing wage law.

Under the current prevailing wage law, laborers, workers, mechanics, and truck drivers employed on the site of certain state and local projects of public works (generally single-trade projects whose estimated cost of completion is $48,000 or more and multiple-trade projects whose estimated cost of completion is $100,000 or more) 1) must be paid at the rate paid for a majority of the hours worked in the person’s trade or occupation in the area in which the project is located, as determined by DWD; and 2) may not be required or permitted to work a greater number of hours per day and per week than the prevailing hours of labor, which is no more than 10 hours per day and 40 hours per week, unless they are paid 1.5 times their basic rate of pay (commonly referred to as overtime pay) for all hours worked in excess of the prevailing hours of labor. Also under current law, no local government may enact or administer a prevailing wage law ordinance or any similar ordinance.

This bill eliminates the prevailing wage law with respect to projects of public works undertaken by local governmental units, but retains the prohibition against local governmental units enacting or administering their own prevailing wage laws or similar ordinances.

Under current law, the prevailing wage rate is defined as the hourly basic rate of pay, plus the hourly contribution for bona fide economic benefits, paid for a majority of the hours worked in a trade or occupation in the area in which the project is located, except that, if there is no rate at which a majority of those hours is paid, “prevailing wage rate” means the average hourly basic rate of pay, plus the average hourly contribution for bona fide economic benefits, paid for the highest–paid 51 percent of hours worked in a trade or occupation in the area. Current law requires DWD to conduct investigations and hold public hearings as necessary to define the trades or occupations that are commonly employed on projects that are subject to the prevailing wage law and to inform itself as to the prevailing wage rates in all areas of the state for those trades or occupations, in order to determine the prevailing wage rate for each trade or occupation. Current law also contains other provisions regarding the calculation of prevailing wage rates by DWD, including provisions allowing for persons to request recalculations of the prevailing wage rates.

The bill repeals all provisions directing DWD to determine prevailing wage rates and redefines “prevailing wage rate” to instead mean the applicable prevailing wage rate as determined by the U.S. Department of Labor under the federal Davis–Bacon Act.

The bill also eliminates all of DWD’s other powers and responsibilities with respect to enforcing and administering the prevailing wage laws on state projects of public works, including references in the prevailing wage law contained in the wage claim enforcement law. The bill also eliminates a requirement that state agencies post prevailing wage rates and hours of labor on sites for projects other than state highway projects. The bill instead requires DOA to promulgate rules to enforce the prevailing wage laws on projects other than state highway projects. The bill retains enforcement and oversight of the prevailing wage law on state highway projects by the Department of Transportation.

Finally, under current law, a person employed to process, manufacture, pick up, or deliver materials or products from a commercial establishment that has a fixed place of business from which the establishment supplies processed or manufactured materials or products or from a facility that is not dedicated exclusively, or nearly so, to a project of public works that is subject to the prevailing wage law is not covered under the prevailing wage law unless: 1) the person is employed to go to the source of mineral aggregate such as sand, gravel, or stone and deliver that mineral aggregate to the site of a project of public works that is subject to the prevailing wage law by depositing the material directly in final place; or 2) the person is employed to go to the site of a project of public works that is subject to the prevailing wage law, pick up excavated material or spoil from the site of the project, and transport it away from the site of the project.

The bill instead provides that the persons described above are not covered.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

In this subsection, “personally identifiable information” does not include an employee’s work classification, hours of work, or wage or benefit payments received for work on such a project.

66.0903 (1m) (b) The legislature finds that the enactment of ordinances or other enactments by local governmental units requiring laborers, workers, mechanics, and truck drivers employed on projects of public works or on publicly funded private construction projects to be paid the prevailing wage rate and to be paid at least 1.5 times their hourly basic rate of pay for hours worked in excess of the prevailing hours of labor would be logically inconsistent with, would defeat the purpose of, and would go against the spirit of this section and the repeal of s. 66.0904, 2009 stats, and s. 66.0903 (2) to (12), 2013 stats. Therefore, this section shall be construed as an enactment of statewide concern for the purpose of providing uniform prevailing wage rate and prevailing hours of labor requirements throughout the state purposes of facilitating broader participation with respect to bidding on projects of public works, ensuring that wages accurately reflect market conditions, providing local governments with the flexibility to reduce costs on capital projects, and reducing spending at all levels of government in this state.

stipulation that no person performing the work described in sub. (2m) may be
