

I work hard
just to pay
my tuition
but MSU
keeps raising it.

Don't overspend
on construction!

I count on the university to spend my money wisely. So, I don't think it's right when the university considers construction deals that can make costs go up. They're called "union-only project labor agreements (PLAs)," which means only union workers can work here. That's discrimination against everyone else. And when you take away competition, the bids go higher and the budgets get bigger. That costs me money.

I already have to watch every penny.
I wish MSU would do the same.
